LETTERS AND TOMATOES DEPT.

DEPT. OF CORRECTIONS

MAD #313's "Evening Shame" spoof should be called "MAD's Editor's Shame." At the top of page 36, Diva says she's going "to pour over the want ads." Huh? What's she going to pour them over? Pancakes? That may be appropriate for MAD's Editors, but when the rest of us read something we "pore" over it. By the way, don't use my name with this letter. My daughter, KATIE SQUIRE would just die if either her name, KATIE SQUIRE, or mine ever appeared in MAD.

Pat Squire Katie Squire's father Simsbury, CT

Patsy—Your letter is very porel—Ed.

MORON MAIL

I am typing this sentence with my nose (I really am, no lie). I am typing this sentence with another part of the anatomy but I won't tell you which.

Paul Alger East Haven, CT

We know we can rule out your brain!-Ed.

Is Andrew J. Schwartzberg a great guy or what? He is my hero, my inspiration, my very reason for existing!

Amar Pai Las Vegas, NV

Amar—MAD Editorial Assistant Andrew J. Schwartzberg is a great guy much in the same way Mike Tyson is a great blind datel By the by, we couldn't help but note you're from Las Vegas. Are you perchance the same Amar Pai who works as the bucket boy at Siegfried and Roy's midnight show at the Trop?—Ed.

"JFK CONSPIRACY THEORIES"

There must be a billion subjects to ridicule or poke fun at. The assassination of John F. Kennedy does not lend itself to satire. "Other JFK Conspiracy Theories Oliver Stone Left on the Cutting Room Floor" (MAD #314) was an ugly attempt at humor and was soiled with poor taste. With due respect to a magazine enjoyed by millions of us—please don't forget to respect us, too.

Bob Chadwick Kapa'a, HI

After reading "JFK Conspiracy Theories" I have only one piece of advice for artist/writer Duck Edwing: Don't ride in any opentop convertibles!

Eric Rickman West Covina, CA

We don't know why you're upset with our JFK movie spoof. Actually, the dashing Mr. Edwing is known for resembling our 35th President, and the two were often mistaken for one another. In fact, many have told us that on that day in Dallas, dozens of people along the motorcade route were heard exclaiming "Duck!"—Ed.

BEING BLUNT ABOUT INSTRUMENTS

I would like to know why you can't draw musical instruments right! In "The Outrageous Orchestral Offense" (MAD #313), the only instrument you drew right is the drum, which isn't that hard to draw! The tuba has more pipes and the valves are not in the lead pipe. The trombone slide should be on the side of the horn, not below it. Whatever that is supposed to be in the back is drawn like a guitar but is being played like a string bass.

The only drawings I like are the ones of women. I like the way you make their chests really big. Those are the best drawings in the magazine.

John Marmolejo Rowland Heights, CA

John—You're going to have a real love/hate relationship with one of our upcoming articles— "What if Women of the D-Cup Played Chamber

ENVELOPE OF THE MONTH

This issue's Spy Vs. Spy-inspired envelope is a festival of minimalism... a cornucopia of simplicity...proof that less IS morel It's the creation of Mike Moreau of Bellingham, WA, but hey, everything has a downside, right?

WRESTLING WITH A RIPOFF

You guys really got ripped off this time! I don't know if you know this already, but the World Wrestling Federation has introduced a wrestler named Irwin R. Schyster, or "IRS" for short. This guy immediately provoked memories of MAD #272's back cover featuring Harold, the Killer Accountant! It seems to me that the WWF is getting so desperate for new gimmick-wrestlers that they have sunk to stealing ideas from MAD!

Mike Baldoumis Danbury, CT

You haven't heard the worst of it! Rumor has it that at the next Royal Rumble, Vince "Mr. Trillions" McMahon is unveiling another MAD-inspired grappler that will make even The Undertaker drop dead in revulsion—"KILLER KAPUTNIK"I—Ed.

Harold "The Killer Accountant" from MAD #272's "WWWF Magazine" spoof and lookalike wrestler Irwin R. Schyster from the pages of WWF magazine. Fal

PARENTAL PROS AND CONS PART IV

A well-meaning relative sent a MAD subscription to our children, but I want it stopped! Your magazine is sick, sick, sick, immoral and a very, very bad example for kids (teens too!) Like I said, I don't want your filth coming to my home!

Jeanne Aldendifer South Bend, IN

I would like to direct this letter to all of the mothers out there who have cancelled their kids subscriptions to MAD. All I want to say to them is CHILL OUT! You are depriving your children a chance to take in the best literature there is! You probably don't even give them important things like Nintendo or Cable!

And tell me this: If MAD is such a bad magazine, why has it been around since you were kids? Betcha you read it when you were young! This is the 90s. Kids have their right to read MAD!

Laura Dvornicky Perry Hall, MD

It's time once again for us to ask that old, eternal question we first posed on the letters page of MAD #291...Which of these two lovely ladies would you like to be your mom?!—Ed.

A BAD CASE OF THE NUNS DEPT.

Holy guacamole, another "cute nun" movie! For God's sake, give it a rest, already! The church has enough problems without having to deal with this kind of un-saintly representation! It's no wonder they wouldn't mind seeing this...

You shouldn't have squealed on me to the cops, Gidrool! I don't take acts of nastiness lightly!

Vince, I didn't squeal on you! You gotta believe me! I swear on my mother's grave!

Aw, come on! Why swear on that nice old lady's grave when you're about to have your own to swear on? Blast him!

Sure thing, Boss! What better way to start off a nice, warmhearted comedy than with a nice, coldblooded murder?

CUTTING THE DECADE DEPT.

On New Year's Eve 1990 a new decade began...but nobody really noticed. People were still wearing the same clothes, had the same friends...even Dick Clark looked like he did in the 80's. (Heck, Dick Clark still looks like he did in the 50's!) But things have changed, it's just that the changes were very subtle. The keen eye of MAD has detected some of...

The Differ the 80's

In the 80's people spent their "disposable income" all over town.

In the 90's they tend to blow it all at once.

In the 80's radio personality Larry King made it big in television.

In the 80's congressmen were unable to balance the national budget.

In the 90's congressmen were unable to balance their own checkbooks!

In the 80's superstar athletes enlisted powerful, high-priced attorneys to handle their finances.

In the 80's baby boom Yuppies conducted "insider" deals for vast sums of money.

In the 90's baby boom Yuppies conduct "insider" deals for cigarettes.

In the 80's Donald Trump began the chapter by chapter account of his success story.

FRANK ON A ROLL DEPT.

There are thousands of greeting cards to choose from these days. The problem is that none of them deal with the fast-changing world of the 1990s. But not to worry! MAD now points the backwards, dim and dunderheaded card companies in the right direction as we present...

Greeting Cards that keep up with the times

ARTIST: PAUL COKER

WRITER: FRANK JACOBS

You only make it with the best,
Shrewd bimbo that you are,
And that is why you always hitch
Your wagon to a star,
The dude must be a VIP
With power and ambition,
Just like the last one that you hooked—
A married politician,
But now he's left you high and dry
And dashed your dreams of glory,
Don't fret—you'll make a bundle when
The tabloids buy your story.

Your company could not survive
Your latest business blunder,
And so, last month, you bellied up
And let your firm go under;
Despite the loss you must have felt,
Despite the stress and strain,
That bonus that you gave yourself
Will surely ease the pain;
You walked away a millionaire
And didn't lose a buck;
Your firm's investors got wiped out,
But, hey, that's their tough luck!

With Joy In Our Hearts

We never thought you'd land that job
Last week when you applied;
The dozen other applicants
Were much more qualified;
Your résumé's a sorry joke;
You lack the needed skills;
You turn off all who meet you
With a morning breath that kills;
You really stood no chance at all,
Except, you lucky slob,
The others failed their urine test—
Congrats! You got the job!

CONGRATULATIONS!

O college jock, you've made the grade
And earned your graduation;
You got through "Body Painting 3"
And "Rock Appreciation;"
You stuck it out despite those times
You found the going hard;
You'd know the pride we feel if you
Could only read this card.

A Personal Message

Your neighbor had a skin-peel-Now she looks as if she's molting; Another had a face-lift-The results were quite revolting; Your best friend had a fanny-tuck-When sitting, she's lopsided; Your cousin sued her doctor When her implants subdivided; So what if you're flat-chested And your tummy's gone to pot? You've seen the shape these folks are in, So keep the one you've got!

In Deepest Sympathy

You tried to hide it from your fans; You feared for your career; But now it's in the open, guy, The word's out, far and near; That gay rag blew your cover With a front-page exposé; You're now a conversation piece From New York to L.A.; Yes, you've been outed, sad to say, For all the world to see; Remember that I'm still your friend, So please, guy, don't out me!

Thinking Of You

While others struggle to survive, You sail through ev'ry test; You're "Mr. Lucky" to your friends;
You seem divinely blessed; That is, until we heard today-Oh, gee, oh, gosh, oh golly-Your Mickey Mantle rookie card Was chewed up by your collie.

THE WACKY WASHROOM WHIZBANG

Mail-order shopping has become a 314 billion dollar a year business (we haven't actually researched that, but it's an amount we think sounds good!) Since that figure represents only a small percentage of what we annually lose on MAD subscriptions, we thought it wise to dip our biscuit in this cash bonanza gravy! So here now is the première edition of...

Please take me to Little Charlie's restaurant on Kenmare Street! I just got my PhD and I'm meeting some friends to celebrate!

Congratulations! It's a day you'll always remember, getting your degree, bracing yourself to face the world and conquer it!

I felt the same way the day I got my PhD!

FROM TELEMARKETERS

We understand you received a call from one of our company representatives yesterday. To make sure we provide everyone with top quality service, we've created this questionnaire. When you return it, please include $3.00 for postage and handling, and allow 4-6 weeks for delivery.

1) Was our telephone call intrusive enough?

2) Were the details of our sales pitch vague enough so you weren't sure what the product cost, how you would get it, or even what it

3) Were we able to keep you on the phone for at least 20 minutes, after you tried to politely say no and get off?

4) Were we successful in making you late for an appointment, miss your favorite TV show, or get you completely out of the mood for that hot romantic evening you were planning?

5) Did our caller adequately insult your intelligence by pretending the sales script they were reading was a spontaneous, real conversation?

YES NO

FROM YOUR PARENTS

My, how time flies! It seems only yesterday we were bringing you home from the hospital, and now you're old enough to be filling out one of these. You can do it anytime you want, say in between cleaning up your room and taking out the garbage. And don't worry about being honest-no matter what you say, you'll always be our baby!

YES NO 1) Have we found enough different ways to thoroughly embarrass you when you're with your friends?

2) Do the rules governing your behavior (such as curfews, choice of friends, and what movies you can see) stifle and restrict you enough?

Can you count on us to always be ready with annoying clichés like "When I was your age, we really had it tough", or "Just wait until you have kids!"?

4) Are we showing enough disregard for what you want to do with your life when we respond to your dreams of being a musician by telling you to become an accountant so "you'll always have something to fall back on"? 5) How do we compare with other parents in constantly reminding you that you're wasting the best vears of your life?

a survey isn't a bad idea. We just wish that others besides money-grubbing capitalist swine corporations used this technique and that the questions they asked reflected their true feelings. Confused? You won't be once you read the probing questions in our follow-up article called ...

FROM POLLUTING CORPORATIONS

We care about our planet. We care about our customers. We care about our image. So please answer the following questions to let us know what things you care about. Because this makes us look good. That means more business, and above all, we care about our profits!

YES NO l) When there is an environmental disaster, are we sufficiently adept at evading all blame and responsibility for cleaning up after ourselves?

Are we doing a good job of threatening your community's well-being by calling for more scientific studies of chemicals and waste products that have already been proven to be toxic?

When you write to us expressing your concern, do our bland form letters sound like we really care about what you think?

4) Are our expensive, manipulative media campaigns to make us look good sufficiently misleading?

5) Is there an opportunity to cause more damage through ignoring regulations or careless handling of pollutants that we've missed? Please be specific.

FROM YOUR TEACHER

It's been my pleasure to have you in my class this term. Please answer the following questions. Your answers will help my future students ... and might help you, if you get left back and I have the pleasure of having you in this exact same class next term! YES NO

1) Has there been enough homework to wreck your Christmas and Easter vacations, and send every weekend completely down the tubes?

2) Is the material presented in class sufficiently complicated to cover my butt, and so irrelevant that you'll never need it again in your life?

3) Are my lectures carefully formulated so that you're afraid to fall asleep in class, for fear I might say something that will actually show up on a test?

4) Has my grading system been sufficiently confusing, random and nitpicky so you can't win no matter how much you study?

5) Do my rambling digressions on totally unrelated topics appear to be spontaneous, so it looks like I've let you sidetrack me and the class is getting a free ride, on days when I just don't feel like working?

ONE FOOTNOTE IN THE GRAVE DEPT.

Recently, a new kind of quasi-legal document has become popular. It's called a Living Will. Unlike a regular will, which instructs your survivors what to do with your worldly assets once you settle down for that long dirt nap, a Living Will instructs others what to do should you become incapacitated and are no longer able to express your wishes. We think this is a great idea. And, so you don't have to go to a costly, ambulance-chasing lawyer to have this simple document drawn up, we've created one for you!

The Mad Living

To: My Family, My Physician, My Lawyer, My Friends And All Others To Whom It May Concern

, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby make, publish and declare this to be my LIVING WILL. If the time comes when I can no longer take part in decisions of my own future, let this statement stand as an expression of my wishes and directions while I am still of sound mind.

I suddenly begin to take an unexplained turn for the worse, before any drastic or irreversible decisions are made, it is my desire that someone first check to make sure my attending physician is not Dr. Jack Kevorkian.

Should my attending medical personnel determine that an organ transplant is necessary, it is my expressed wish that, if at all possible, the baboon be of the same faith as myself.

F a kind soul takes it upon themselves to read aloud to me, it is my fervent wish, as it was during my non-incapacitated life, that they skip directly to the dirty parts of the book, and then read those passages over and over and over again.

 \mathcal{F}_{t} is my expressed want that no family member, friend or acquaintance shall enter my hospital room bearing one of those tacky "Get Well Soon" helium balloons. Likewise, any get well card sporting Garfield the Cat shall immediately be returned to its sender.

 ${\mathscr F}$ wish my TV set off whenever Arsenio is on.

at all possible, I prefer "Depends" over "Serenity."

 ${\mathscr F}$ would prefer that my visitors leave their small children home if all the kids are going to do is stare at me and play with my toes.

 \mathcal{M} no time, even on the occasion of my birthday, do I yen to have a party hat placed on my head.

While I am not morally or ethically opposed to so-called "life sustaining equipment," I am vehemently opposed to the concept of hooking up such machinery to "The Clapper."

 \mathcal{F} agree to sponge baths only if given by a member of the opposite sex. Several members of the opposite sex at once is acceptable and, in fact, preferred. Ditto any therapeutic jacuzzis that may be prescribed.

 \mathcal{F}_{i} is my strong desire that in any and all elections that may take place, my absentee ballot be marked for the individual running opposite Quayle.

If, in the unfortunate event, the time comes to donate my vital organs, it is my wish that in all donations a receipt be obtained, for tax purposes.

No Jello.

This statement is made after careful consideration and is in accordance with my strong convictions and beliefs. I want the wishes and directions here expressed carried out to the extent permitted by law.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal to this my MAD LIVING WILL on this the _ day of _____
